NEWSROOM NOTES — A total of 265 persons drowned in Illinois during 1963, Dr. Franklin D. Yoder, director of the Illinois Department of Public Health, reported today.

Drowning is the fourth leading type of fatal accident and each year in the nation about 6,400 persons are drowned. Of these victims, about two-thirds are not swimming at the time of the accident; they fall into the water. About two-thirds are children and young adults and most are males. Drowning is second only to pedestrian-motor accidental deaths in the 5-to-24 year age group.

During the last 15 years in Illinois, one out of five drownings involved a pleasure boat and the sites of drownings have remained unchanged. Each year the same kind of location claims its usual quota of lives of the unwary, the careless, the unprepared, Dr. Yoder said.

Last year, 154 persons drowned in unsupervised public places, such as lake and river shores, beaches and gravel pits in Illinois. Fifty-one children nine years of age and younger were drowned and in the 10-to-19 year group, 85 were drowned. Twenty-three drownings occurred at homes or on farms, and 29 at supervised recreational areas.

"This grim summary points up some good safety rules," Dr. Yoder continued. "Water safety involves more than life guards on duty and knowing when and where to swim."

Primarily, everyone should learn to swim at an early age. If you don't swim, you should know how to offer help to someone having trouble in the water without jeopardizing your own life. Everyone should know how to stay afloat in the water with their clothes on, he pointed out. The trick is not to try to remove them. Trapped air in wet clothing helps buoyancy and more air can often be forced into cavities of wet clothing.

More information on special methods of water safety may be obtained from Public Safety Division, National Safety Council, 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago, or from Accident Prevention Division, U.S. Public Health Service, Washington 25, D.C., or from your local Red Cross chapter.

Another safety rule is to never swim alone, no matter how shallow the water seems or how well you swim. Common sense dictates the wearing of life preservers when in a boat or using water skis. To assure the safety of the skier, there should be two people in the boat: one to steer and one to watch the skier.

"About 500 lives have been lost in Illinois waters every year for the last 15 years," Dr. Yoder concluded. "Not until everyone becomes conscious of water safety will this needless loss of life be reduced."

Man Arrested

MORTON GROVE (P) — A carnival roustabout arrested in Pennsylvania was being brought back to Morton Grove today to face charges of slaying a Chicago girl in this north Chicago suburb May 6.

The man, Robert Engler, 46, was charged Monday with the murder of Martha Lou Turner, 15. Her body was found in the Linne Woods Forest Preserve in Morton Grove. She had been raped and stabbed several times.

Proposed Merger Would Create Nation's Largest Rail System; Ask ICC to Okay Five's Unification

WASHINGTON (P) — An examiner has recommended that the Interstate Commerce Commission approve the unification of five railroads into the nation's largest system—nearly 25,000 miles.

The proposal approved Monday by examiner Robert H. Murphy calls for the merger of four lines—the Great Northern Railway, the Northern Pacific Railway, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad and the Pacific Coast Railroad—and a 10-year lease on the Spokane, Portland and Seattle Railway.

If approved by the full commission, the combined system — to be known as the Great Northern Pa-

KHANH STILL ACTUAL CHIEF

Bows to Students; Gives Up Titles

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (P) — Maj. Gen. Nguyen Khanh gave up title of president and his dictatorial powers today under the angry demands of students and Buddhists for an end to military rule. He was expected to stay on, however, as the actual chief of the U.S.-backed government.

The 37-year-old strong man may resume the premiership he dropped after the revolutionary military council elected him to the presidency 10 days ago. Or he might have himself re-elected president of a revamped regime. He retains command of South Viet Nam's armed forces.

Jubilant student leaders told The Associated Press that Khanh had agreed to hold a new election for chief of state and that the military council would then be dissolved. Student leader Ton Thah Tue said he had been in telephone contact with Khanh at the presidential of-

Council Names Temporary Dog Catcher

A temporary dog catcher, a proclamation by the mayor and the announcement for the renovation of the Chamber of Commerce building consumed almost the entire 15-minute session this morning of the Dixon City Council.

Mayor George Lindquist issued a proclamation for "School's Open Day" which will be Sept. 8.

Dean Frey, 829 S. Forest Dr., was appointed temporary city dog catcher by Commissioner Arthur Tofte. Frey is expected to start his new duties immediately.

Commissioner C. Lyle Ballard announced that bids for the renovation of the Chamber of Commerce building in downtown Dixon will be advertised for immediately.

Ballard stated that the contracts, when issued, will improve the restroom facilities, the wiring of the building and general repairs and alterations to the structure.

In other action, the council approved a $3,196.50 payment to the Blair Brothers Construction Co., Dixon, for storm sewer work in the Jefferson Park subdivision.

Total outside labor and claims amounting to $14,946.43 were ordered paid and filed by the members.

fice building, and Khanh said he was willing to:

—Revoke the charter he promulgated Aug. 16 that gave him sweeping powers.

—Have the military council hold a new election for the chief of state—conceivably re-electing Khanh.

—Dissolve the council after the election, and set up some new form of government.

An aide in Khanh's office said that this version was essentially correct. It does not mean, the aide said, that Khanh has resigned his power as chief of Viet Nam.

The deputy premier for economy, Nguyen Xuan Oanh, told The Associated Press that the new move means Khanh no longer is either president or premier. The military revolutionary council will be called into an urgent session tonight, he said, to elect a new chief.

Khanh probably will be renamed premier, Oanh said. The junta then will dissolve itself, and a new junta, comprising civilians as well as military men, will be organized.

Back in the confused Vietnamese political picture was Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, the popular Buddhist who led the overthrow of President Ngo Dinh Diem last Nov. 1.

Minh, known as Big Minh, was removed as figurehead chief of state in the Aug. 16 shakeup. A government source said today he probably will be brought back as caretaker chief of state.

As the news came from the presidential office building, a cheer rose from a mass of demonstrators outside. They embraced each other and waved their banners wildly.

The government conceded nearly every demand posed by the political groups, students, Buddhist and military factions opposing Khanh.

The government pledged it would create mobile field courts to deliver "instant justice" to corrupt officials and elements of the defunct Can Lao party of the late President Ngo Dinh Diem.

Deputy Premier Oanh told The Associated Press, "a ruling council with the same powers as the present junta but made up of civilians will be created. The civilians will be picked from a broad spectrum of political parties and groups so as to be completely representative."

The government also abrogated the national constitution promulgated by Khanh nine days ago, which gave him sweeping powers.

The situation in Saigon was confused but the danger of immediate rioting in the capital apparently passed with the government statement.

Today's demonstration was the biggest against the government since the founding of the Vietnamese state in 1954.

The aggressive, goateed career soldier proclaimed himself premier a few weeks after he seized power in a bloodless coup last Jan. 30. He replaced Gen. Minh, the popular Buddhist who had led the overthrow of the hated Diem regime three months earlier.

When the Gulf of Tonkin crisis broke early this month, Khanh decreed a state of national emergency. On Aug. 16 his military junta promulgated a constitution giving Khanh dictatorial powers in a national emergency and elevating him to president.

State's Dry Areas Get Some Rain

CHICAGO (P) — Some dry areas of Illinois got what they wanted today—rain.

It wasn't much in many sections. But the rainfall measured 2 inches in Quincy, almost an inch in Springfield and close to a half inch in Peoria and Vandalia.

Cloudy, cool weather covered the state early in the day. Overnight temperatures were in the 50s and 60s.

And cooler conditions were forecast. Highs in the 60s and 70s in the north were expected to be followed by a drop into the low 50s Tuesday night.

In the southern half of the state highs in the 70s and 80s were in prospect, to be followed by a dip to the 50s and low 60s during the night.

The mercury pulled down close to freezing in Bismarck, N.D., and Butte, Mont. Both had readings of 35.

denounced in Cleveland, Ohio, by H. E. Gilbert, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, who called the decision "another victory for monopoly interests."

"The recommended merger," Gilbert said in a statement, "would be a surrender to the financial interests that seek greater profit from minimum service, jobs will be cut by at least 30 per cent and many communities will find themselves with either no rail service or relegated to branch line status."

The Milwaukee Road, would gain entrance to Portland, Ore., by being permitted to operate over the Spokane, Portland and Seattle tracks. It also would be given trackage rights through Everett, Wash., thus gaining access to Canada.

In Chicago, President William J. Quinn of the Milwaukee Road said Murphy's recommendations would assist it "in furnishing effective competition to the merged system." His road operates 10,540 miles of track between Chicago and the West Coast.

Officials of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern said they would have no comment until they had had a chance to study the lengthy findings.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (P) — President Johnson's peacemakers worked backstage today in a new effort to shape the 1964 Democratic National Convention into an LBJ unity spectacular unmarred by Southern disharmony.

As a part of this strategy to keep Democratic ranks intact, the President was reported hesitating over the possible choice of Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey as his running mate because of evidence of Dixie opposition.

As the convention went into a second day it still faced smoldering disputes over the seating of the Alabama and Mississippi delegations.

Johnson, who has said he wants all the people of the nation to unite under his tent, was trying to find a way of cooling off these two fires before they erupt into a floor fight and perhaps anger other Southern states.

The rebel Alabama delegates who refused to sign a pledge to support the party's nominees were told to surrender their credentials.

Only 13 members of the delegation — 6 delegates and 7 alternates — have signed the pledge but Monday night all the Alabamians brushed past guards and took their seats anyway.

When they returned to their hotel, a telegram was awaiting them from David Lawrence, chairman of the Credentials Committee, asking them to surrender their passes.

There was no immediate decision whether they would.

Minnesota's Humphrey, who was everywhere doing everything he could to prevent any incident that would mar the unity that Johnson wanted achieved, was the consensus choice by leading Democrats for the place. But individually and collectively they conceded they don't have an inkling of Johnson's thinking.

Some dissent to the choice of Humphrey had been communicated to Johnson, lending credence to reports that he still had not made up his mind despite the relatively late hour.

Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia, on whom Johnson has been leaning

Meat Cost Up in Duluth; NFO Boycott Continues

CORNING, Iowa (P) — Housewives were paying higher prices for meat in some cities today as the National Farmers Organization continued to withhold cattle from markets in 23 states.

Meat on the hoof was bringing the highest prices in more than a year for those who did sell.

However, receipts were down at major markets as the holding action entered its fifth day. Midwest packing plants were laying off employees.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley at the organization's national headquarters here said retail prices increases at this stage would be unjustified. He said it appeared that "retail outlets will take unfair advantage of the situation and raise prices toward the end of the week."

Sporadic incidents of violence occurred as truckers tried to deliver meat animals despite the holding action.

At Duluth, Minn., retailers said fresh beef and pork cuts were up as much as 10 cents a pound.

In Boston, two grocery chains—First National Stores and Stop and Shop—said meat prices are likely to go up later this week.

NFO members massed at many marketing places Monday to try to talk truckers out of delivering animals.

The announced NFO policy is to hold out for its price goals of $22.75 a hundredweight for No. 1 and No. 2 hogs, $32.45 for choice beef cattle and $29.45 a hundredweight for sheep. It seeks contracts guaranteeing these prices, the same goal as in 1962 when it conducted a 33-day holding action.

Prices for hogs reached $20 at Chicago and Indianapolis and $19.25 at Omaha Monday. Prime steers brought $28.50 at Chicago, $27.50 at Omaha and $27 at Indianapolis.

Kennedy Declares Candidacy

NEW YORK (P) — Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy declared his candidacy today for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate from New York, a nomination considered already in his pocket.

Kennedy formally began his first campaign for elective office at the side of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, the State's No. 1 Democrat.

The attorney general issued his long-expected announcement from Gracie Mansion, Wagner's official residence, and the mayor returned to the city from the Democratic National Convention at Atlantic City for the occasion.

Kennedy met head-on the issue of his residence:

"I shall devote all my effort and whatever talents I possess to the State of New York. This I pledge."

If New York Democrats nominate him next Tuesday, Kennedy said, "I shall resign from the Cabinet to campaign for election."

Kennedy seeks the seat occupied by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, a Republican who has announced for reelection. Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce has said she is seeking the conservative party nomination for the same job. The attorney general's wife, Ethel, was with him as he announced.

Kennedy now lives in Virginia and maintains a voting residence in his native state of Massachusetts. He has negotiated for a home on Long Island to become a New York resident.

He cited past connections with New York state, but said he did not base his candidacy upon these connections.

Hurricane Cleo Winds Rake Cuba

KINGSTON, Jamaica (P) — Gale force winds raked Cuba's Oriente Province and northern Jamaica today as Hurricane Cleo churned through the strait separating the two islands.

Seas raged and heavy surf battered shipping and coastal installations along Jamaica's north coast and Cuba's southeastern coast.

Winds were building to hurricane force from Santiago, Cuba, westward along the Sierra Maestra Mountains, where Fidel Castro began his drive to power.

The Jamaican Weather Office said reconnaissance planes reported the hurricane veered northward during the night and appeared headed more directly toward Cuba. Extent of the northward turn would not be known until additional observations were made by hurricane hunter aircraft.

Forecasters said Cleo appeared headed toward Oriente Province, which suffered a severe blow last October from Hurricane Flora.

Residents were evacuating the southern coast of Cuba's Oriente Province, Havana radio said, and the government was preparing to evacuate parts of neighboring Camaguey Province.

Fifty physicians and 50 nurses left Havana Monday night to work with emergency teams previously established in Camaguey, the broadcast said.

At 8 a.m., CDT, the hurricane was (See CLEO . . . Page 4)

County Exchange

Last week was a busy one for Ogle County 4-Hers. Sixteen 4-Hers and two chaperones traveled from Logan County, Ky., to visit our 4-Hers on an exchange trip. The exchange trip means that they visit Ogle County this year and we in turn will visit Kentucky next year.

Seventeen Ogle County families were hosts to the blue grass state visitors. One or two Kentucky 4-Hers from the county 4-H club stayed with each host family. Each family took responsibility of their guest or guests. During their stay, both Ogle County and Kentucky 4-Hers and parents exchanged ideas and visited Ogle County industry, farms, and recreational areas. This provided members a living experience with a 4-H family from another state. The exchange trip has helped to develop a broader knowledge and better understanding between people in our own county. It also has provided adventure and an educational experience through travel.

Some of the visits provided for the Kentucky 4-Hers as a group were as follows: Swift and Company, Rochelle; White Pines State Park, Conover; Cable Piano Company, Oregon; and Kable Printing Company, Mount Morris.

One day was spent visiting Chicago. Other visits to interesting areas in our county were provided by the individual families. Kentucky 4-Hers exchanged 4-H program and project ideas with our 4-Hers at the 4-H Federation meeting held during their stay in our county. The following families were hosts to the Kentucky guests: The Donald Larabee family, Chana; Maynard Bruns, Rochelle; Francis O'Rourke, Rochelle; Norman Quontock, Rochelle; Roy Baker, Stillman Valley, Armour Van Briesen, Stillman Valley, Slagle Case, Byron; Robert Brown, Leaf River; Ralph Satterfield, Leaf River; Lawrence Schreiber, Leaf River; Russell Poole, Polo; David Weber, Polo; Marion Maxey, Polo; Ted Thomas, Oregon; Kenneth Nelson, Chana; Harm Hayenga, Kings and Frances Reeves, Oregon.

The entire exchange program was certainly an interesting and educational experience for all 4-Hers, leaders and parents. We hope Kentucky enjoyed their stay in Ogle County. Everyone enjoyed having them visit Ogle County.

Federation Meeting
Gary Nestead reports that the August meeting of the Ogle County 4-H Federation was held at the Harm Hayengas' farm. Over 70 Kentucky and Ogle County 4-Hers were present at this interesting meeting. The meeting was held, due to rain, in a large farrowing house. The hayride for the first part of the meeting was cancelled because of rain. Rodney Hayenga called the meeting to order and explained the purpose and activities of the 4-H Federation Council to our guests from Kentucky. The new 4-H Club Week posters were distributed. The committee for planning the September Federation meeting will meet Sept. 2 in Oregon. The September Federation meeting will be on the 4-H Peace Corps. Neighboring counties have been invited to attend this Federation meeting Sept. 17. National 4-H Club Week is Sept. 26 to Oct. 3. The county window display contest will be held during National 4-H Club Week. Window displays should be in place by Saturday. Again, this year, the Ogle County 4-H Federation will sponsor the window display contest. 4-H clubs were encouraged to send in the names of their 4-H federation delegates during the month of September.

Camp-fire Chatter was the theme of the evening's program. Betty Brass, Sylvia Cunningham and Francis King told of their experiences at Junior Leadership Conference. Linda Case covered the activities at 4-H White Eagle Camp. Judy Larabee, JoAnn Larabee, and Jim Lingel talked about the 4-H trip to Wisconsin. Brenda Brown and John Maxey explained State 4-H Club Week.

The entire program was designed to give our Kentucky exchange guests an idea of our 4-H county activities. The Logan County Kentucky 4-Hers in turn explained their 4-H program to us. Carol Napier, assistant home agent, told of the organization of their 4-H club work in Kentucky. The meeting ended with social dancing and refreshment.

Washable Wallpapers
Although plain walls give a feeling of space, walls with printed paper may be both cozy and elegant. Shoppers should look for the new washable wallpapers. Their initial cost may be high, but the higher cost should pay off in years of satisfactory service.

Washable wall coverings can usually be washed with lukewarm mild suds, provided you do not rub the surface excessively. Some wall coverings are more resistant to rubbing than the "washable" types. You can generally remove stains and crayon marks from "scrubbable" wall coverings with cleaning agents recommended by the manufacturer, or with soap and water.

Here are some other wallpaper terms that shoppers should know: PRETRIMMED: This term refers to rolls of wallpaper from which selvage has been trimmed. SEMITRIMMED: This term means that the selvage has been trimmed from one edge only.

PREPASTED: This term means that the paper has had paste applied during manufacture. Detailed instructions for hanging are usually included. In general, soak prepasted paper in water and apply to wall when wet.

SINGLE ROLL: Wall covering is usually priced by the single roll but sold by double or triple roll. Regardless of width, a single roll contains 36 square feet.

DOUBLE AND TRIPLE ROLLS: Regardless of width, a double roll contains 72 square feet and a triple roll contains 108 square feet. Usually 18- and 20-inch wallpapers come in double rolls and 28-inch wallpapers come in triple rolls. Use double or triple rolls to minimize waste when cutting strips.

Knit Fabrics
Knit fabrics will continue to be popular this fall. For best results in making clothing from either single or double knits follow these pointers:

Choose a pattern with a minimum number of seams, especially for single knits. These fabrics do not handle like woven fabrics on the crosswise, so avoid horizontal pattern lines, such as yokes. Any garment piece cut on the bias should attach to a piece cut on the straight. Like woven goods, knits have a

The United States has repeatedly pressed the Japanese for docking privileges for the subs, but the government has deferred a decision, saying it wanted to study safety factors.

LONDON (U) — Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home was reported gravely worried today that Southern Rhodesia's all-white government may attempt to seize independence early in October.

grain, so be sure to straighten them before cutting. Bastie or chalk a continuous lengthwise rib along the edge of the fabric to mark the grainline. Cut on this line. Mark and cut along the crosswise yarn line at both ends. Steam-press fabric to shrink and straighten grain. A large flat surface, such as a bed, is good for this process.

Choose thread that corresponds to the fabric. For example, silk thread with wool or silk, cotton mercerized thread with cotton.

Use a size 11 or 14 sewing machine needle and about 12 to 15 stitches per inch. Keep the machine tension loose. Sew slowly. Narrow zigzagging is a good way to stitch seams because it provides the same flexibility as the knits. Stay shoulder seams and waistlines with seam binding or narrow ribbon.

Line slim skirts with light-weight fabric, preferably cotton sheath lining. Areas that undergo strain during wear or that need extra body may be underlined.

Press with a medium-hot iron and damp cloth or a steam iron and dry press cloth. Be careful not to stretch fabric. Lift and lower the iron rather than slide it along.

Adviser Enjoys State Fair Period

By PEARL W. BARNES
Ogle Co. Home Adviser

I certainly enjoyed my period at the State Fair. I worked with one group of 89 4-H girls and a second group of 103. These girls had been winners in their county 4-H clothing revue. Outfits were varied from coordinated slacks, shorts and jackets to shimmering bouffant formals. Many had attractive outfits for their first day of school. Others had made smart tailored wool suits and coats. Summer best wear was made by others.

These girls attended classes, learning what is new in current fashions, points in selecting fabrics and patterns, construction techniques and coordinating accessories and garments.

They were also coached by a professional model prior to their public clothing revue. The revues are narrated by some of the older 4-H members from the group. The models looked lovely and many proud parents, leaders and friends were present for the revue.

Our Homemakers Extension Association Council is to meet Aug. 31 with Miss Carol Rebbe, assistant state leader, University of Illinois. Plan of Work for 1965 will be completed.

The 1964 4-H club year is being completed. All the home economics records — members and club — are due today.

4-H leaders are to check 4-H project honor forms on Aug. 28 at 1:30 p.m.

Our county committee is to meet Sept. 2 and 3 to go over other 4-H records and pick county winners.

All homemakers interested are invited to a meeting, "Clothes for the Older Woman," Miss Esther Siemen, clothing specialist, University of Illinois, will give this lesson at the Chapel, Pinecrest Manor, Mount Morris, Sept. 10, 1 p.m.

Several ladies will model garments to illustrate points in the lesson. A coffee hour will follow the lesson.

When you shop for sweaters and other knitted garments this fall you'll find more textured yarns.

The process of texturing man-made yarns has produced a variety of surface interest in sweaters and other knitted garments.

Fabrics from these textured yarns may carry such brand names as Banlon, Helanca, Taslan or Tycora. Textured yarns are continuous-filament fibers that have been heat-set into crimped, looped or coiled shapes that produce bulky yarns. These yarns are less likely to pill than yarns made from staple fibers.

Every fall we see lots of corduroy for school, sports and casual wear. Very popular this fall is the wide-wale corduroy. New prints and stretch corduroy make this the best corduroy season to date.

We are often asked which way to cut corduroy. It usually gives more satisfactory wear if cut with the pile running down. However, if you desire a richer color, cut the garment with the pile running up. Be sure the pattern pieces are cut with the pile running in the same direction.

For interest you may cut corduroy with the wales running horizontally.

Farm Living

It was certainly gratifying that 14 Ogle County families were willing to open the door of their home and welcome guests from Logan County, Ky. This has been a tremendous boost to Ogle County 4-H Club work. Our young people are vigorously making plans to return a visit next summer. We were happy to have them and hope they will return again to enjoy the fellowship our Ogle County families have to offer.

This is a great step in human relations, something we must continue to cultivate—community to community, state to state and nation to nation.

Leaders of the Northern Illinois Lend-Use Council met at Oregon to plan for the fall meeting. Plans are under way to further study technical assistance for recreational projects within the work load of the district. Lee County will be host in September.

4-Hers should complete their project record books and get them to their leaders now. County Finish-Up is set for Sept. 3.

Agronomy Day is scheduled at the University of Illinois Sept. 10. Field Day at Dixon Experiment Field, 1:30 p.m. Sept. 16.

This week Donald Nelson, assistant farm adviser, is attending a conference for new extension workers which is being held at the University of Illinois. This conference will help him become acquainted with his work, how to plan programs, and how to carryout activities to reach objectives.

Since he has had practical experience since his employment Feb. 1, 1964, he will gain much from this experience.

On the Rural Scene

By JIM SOMERS
Lee County Farm Adviser

In 1902, U.S. Department of Agriculture workers buried seeds of both crops and weeds at depths of 8, 22 and 42 inches. Results during a 20 year period showed that most crop seeds remained viable only a few years, but many of the weed seeds were capable of germinating even after 20 years in the soil.

Probably the oldest buried seeds known to germinate are some lotus seeds that had been covered by mud and cold water for many years. The radioactive carbon dating technique was used to estimate their age at 1,040 plus or minus 210 years.

Here is an encouraging word for those who sell herbicides.

In 1879, Dr. W. J. Beal at Michigan Agricultural College, buried 20 pint bottles containing 50 seeds each of 20 different plant species. The seeds were mixed with sand, and the bottles placed 18 inches below the soil surface. Every 5 years, for 40 years, one bottle was dug up and germination tests were made. Since then the interval has been increased to 10 years. In the 25th year, germination tests showed that 11 species, or 55 per cent were still viable. Even at the end of 80 years, three species were still germinating. In Dr. Beal's Michigan experiment, pigweed, ragweed, mustard, broadleaf plantain, peppercorn, smartweed, curled dock were all germinating after 40 years.

So don't feel too badly if your farm is a little weedy. The seed was probably grown by your landlord when he started farming the place.

Dairymen, here are some figures to help you estimate your roughage requirements for your herd: Milking cows — at least 2½ tons of legume hay or its equivalent needed per head for the year. Figure three tons of corn silage as equivalent to one ton of hay in feeding value. It will take about four tons of high-moisture legume-grass silage to equal one ton of hay while only two tons of haylage will provide the same nutrients as a ton of hay.

Yearlings will need 1½ to two tons of hay or equivalent annually. Six-to-12-month old heifers, ¾ ton of hay. If you're short you can harvest some extra corn silage this fall. Pile it on the ground, and feed it first if you don't have enough room in the silo. There will be some spoilage, but losses here probably won't be as costly as buying hay next spring.

As we glanced through the summary of the Illinois Dairy Herd Improvement Association's yearly report, we noticed the following Lee County dairymen's names mentioned: Ronald Dewey and Dysart, Dixon, Wayne Canfield and Crawford, and Dixon State School all qualified for the 500 pounds of butterfat club. Their averages were: 524, 519 and 505 respectively.

J. M. Dennis, Amboy, ranked fourth among the 10 highest producing Guernsey herds with 11,442 lbs. milk, and 578 lbs. butterfat.

Leslie Long, Sterling, was listed eighth among 63 herds in the state that had 10 or more cows qualified for the 600 pound butterfat cow club. He had 17.

Roy Breeze and Son, Lee, seventh of the 10 highest producing Guernsey cows, 799 lbs. butterfat; Wesley B. Herwig, Franklin Grove, sixth of the 10 highest producing Holstein, 836 lbs. butterfat.

Democratic Platform Shows Controlling Hand of President

Ogle GOP Women Hold Sale

OREGON — Final tabulations are not complete but Mrs. Melvin Nefstead, publicity chairman for the White Elephant Sale sponsored by the Ogle County Woman's Republican Club, said Monday that the sale grossed about $3,500 Saturday.

The auction was held at the Ogle County Fairgrounds. Mrs. Nefstead said approximately 2,000 persons attended the auction.

"Mystery White Elephants" from all major Republican leaders including Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican candidate for president, were received for the sale.

Sen. Goldwater's package however did not arrive in time for the auction but Dean Dye, Oregon, purchased a telegram from Goldwater stating that the package was on its way for $67.50.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Sax, Rochelle, purchased former President Herbert Hoover's package, a leatherbound book for $145.

Harold Adams, Davis Junction, bought Sen. Everett Dirksen's package for $38.

State's Atty. and Mrs. John Moore were high bidders for Charles Percy's package with a bid of $50 while Rep. John B. Anderson's package brought a $39 bid from Mrs. H. W. Herrmann of Mount Morris. Other packages were also sold from William Miller, vice presidential candidate; Richard Nixon, former vice president; and Nelson Rockefeller, Governor of New York.

Also sold at the auction were gifts donated by area residents.

Part of the $3,500 will be given to the United Republican Party Fund Drive with the remainder to be used for county purposes.

People in The News

BOSTON — Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, was 69 Monday without any fanfare. He spent the day confined to his residency by a sore throat.

TAIPEI — Adm. U.S. Grant Sharp, commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Command, says the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam will be a long and difficult one.

How long? "You can't put a time limit," Sharp told newsmen upon his arrival in Taipei. "Too many variables are involved."

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — The Most Rev. Walter W. Curtis, Roman Catholic bishop of Bridgeport, says one of his priests has every right to belong to the John Birch Society.

The Rev. Francis E. Fenton, rector of Bridgeport's Blessed Sacrament Church, is a member of the national council of the society, a militantly conservative organization.

"As an individual, Father Fenton enjoys the freedom of every American citizen to belong to any organization of his choosing," said Bishop Curtis. "As a priest he continues to enjoy that right."

Father Fenton was reprimanded last year by the diocesan vicar general after he announced support of a petition urging the impeachment of Chief Justice Earl Warren.

MAKING ALL STOPS

HARTFORD, Conn. — When the American Legion held its state convention here this summer the hotel where most of the Legionnaires stayed manned its three automatic elevators with bellhops.

"They never push the right buttons," explained one operator, "and often they get the Cars to stop at all floors."

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. — The Democrats have laid down, in a speech and a platform, the main lines they will pursue in the 1964 campaign.

But the platform showed the controlling hand of President Johnson, even though he was still in Washington, as much by what it left unsaid as by what it pinpointed.

It's a compromise document plainly intended to prevent party-shattering splits. Particularly it tries to avoid alienating Negroes or Southerners, city-dwellers or farmers.

Yet, the very conscious, and apparently successful search for harmony here is going to make the Democrats' get-together even duller than last month's Republican convention, where the forces of Sen. Barry Goldwater completely dominated the show.

Here are those main lines voters can expect the Democrats to follow:

1. Americans never had it so good, and were never militarily so strong, as under the Kennedy-Johnson administrations. The Democrats claim the longest and strongest peacetime prosperity in our history.

Youth Surrenders

CHICAGO — A 19-year-old youth surrendered Monday to police who quoted him as saying he shot a 14-year-old boy among a gang beating the older youth's uncle with bottles and pipes. Rodger M. Tharpe said he shot Thomas Bocho while trying to defend his uncle.

HOUSE WITH CABOOSE BEHIND

MIDDLESBORO, Ky. — R. T. Richard has no need for a den or summer camp.

He's renovating an old railroad caboose in his backyard for play, parties and work.

"It'll be more of a novelty and it is cheaper than anything I could have built from the start," said Richard.

2. Extremism will be a persistent Democratic target.

The platform condemned it, specifically naming the Communist party, the Ku Klux Klan and the John Birch Society. Pastore said the Republicans have been taken over by reactionaries and extremists.

The Republican platform avoided repudiating extremism and, while Goldwater later said he did not want the support of the Ku Klux Klan, he did not do the same about the Birchites.

3. The platform promised new programs—such as expanded aid to education and broader health facilities, to name a couple—which would mean even broader participation of the federal government in American life.

The Republican platform promised some new programs, too, but because of its heavy emphasis on less government help and participation it is basically different from the Democratic document.

It was on some very sore subjects that the Democratic platform was most cautious. For instance, civil rights.

It promised "fair, effective enforcement" of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. This is the least it could do without alienating Negroes and Northern liberals. Because it was a minimum, it would not infuriate the South.

The best evidence that this was the language of political compromise is that Northern and Southern members of the Platform Committee claimed their work as a "unity" platform and a winner in November.

It said—but didn't attempt to promise, even if the Democrats are in control—that Congress should change its rules to end filibusters after reasonable debate. The filibuster is the Southerners' main weapon against civil rights bills.

And, for the first time since World War II, the platform omitted any demand for new civil rights legislation.

Even though Goldwater voted against the 1964 civil rights bill, the Republican platform on this subject seemed a little stronger than the Democrats.

While it promised "full implementation and faithful execution of the civil rights act of 1964," it went on to promise "such additional . . . legislative actions as may be required."

But the Democrats' platform entirely ducked—and here Johnson's hand was plainly at work—any mention of the problem of reapportioning state legislative districts on the basis of population.

The Supreme Court had ordered this to give all voters a more equal voice in their legislatures. It could wreck some present state political machines. There is a fight now in Congress to postpone or entirely block the court's decree. The Democratic platform not only didn't back up the court, it never mentioned reapportionment. A Platform Committee source said Johnson had sent word he wanted no reference to the subject because in his view any position the platform took would alienate city voters or farm voters.

Lee County Clerk John Stouffer has issued the following marriage licenses:

For work on the streets the Rochelle Stone Inc., was awarded the contract for crushed rock for their bid of $1.50 per ton and the Sinclair Refining Co. bid of 104 cents per gallon on bituminous material for streets was accepted.

The firm, which had operated for 63 years without a union, has been struck since June 5 in a dispute over contract terms.

The union said Monday it plans to ask more than 10,000 contractors to stop buying Barber-Colman air conditioning equipment.

It also said it would carry out "informational picketing" against distributors of the equipment.

The international AFL-CIO last month gave the local strikers their support when president George Meany called the strike "a classic illustration of a trade union's fight for survival against a reactionary corporation bent upon denial of the rights of its employees to collective bargaining and representation by a union of their own choosing."

In a statement Monday, the Sheet Metal Workers said its complaints included what it called "the company's refusal to arbitrate any issue under the contract, its insistence on 'merit' raises rather than any automatic in-grade wage increases . . . and the use of the company's rating system" rather than seniority.

Union charges against Barber-Colman are pending before the National Labor Relations Board.

Demonstrate at Convention Scene

Credentials Committee Still Seeks To Seat Mississippi

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Credentials committee members resume their search today for some way of seating a Mississippi delegation for the second session of the Democratic National Convention.

The first night of the convention ended without a member of the mostly Negro Mississippi Freedom Democratic party or the regular Democrats, an all-white group, taking delegate seats. Both groups were barred because the credentials committee had failed to resolve its most difficult problem. The committee did give both groups guest tickets. Some of the Mississippi people used these to get into the hall.

Every delegate from Alabama, those who took a loyalty oath and those who refused, took their seats. They kept them after repeated polite orders from convention officials that those who had not signed a loyalty pledge must "step aside."

"Step aside" meant getting out of the seats. The unpledged delegates—about 32—said they would leave the hall if ordered to do so, but they would not give up their seats.

They were not ordered to leave. No one with authority could say what would happen tonight when the Alabama delegates try to take their seats for a second session. No one seemed to know how the credentials committee would resolve the Mississippi dispute.

The Mississippi regulars feel the Freedom Democrats are a rump group that has no legal status. Negroes claim the regulars exclude Negroes from their party and would not support the Democratic ticket.

Edison Ups Offer For Rochelle Plant

ROCHELLE—When Rochelle residents vote in the advisory referendum Sept. 22 concerning the sale of the city's municipal power plant, they will find an additional $100,000 added to the price previously offered by the Commonwealth Edison Co.

The advisory referendum vote will be held from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the City Hall and Lincoln School.

Terms of the company's offer include a $150,000 cash payment to the city and 24 annual payments of $50,000, a discharge of the city's obligation on existing revenue bonds totaling $5,410,000, and a 50-year franchise to operate in the city. The company would also receive the $285,663.32 balance in the city's electric bond ordinance account.

The total offer would be $6,760,000. The council also heard a report from the building inspector concerning a new home being built by John W. Tilton, founder of Tilton Industries and Tilton Homes.

Tilton has begun construction on a home for which $40,000 permit has not been issued. The new house crossed the lot where his present house stands and the building codes specify that only one house can be located on a lot in the area zoned for single dwellings.

The building inspector issued a stop order last week but reported that Tilton had ordered work to continue.

The council withheld action on the matter until the planning commission could study the situation and report back to the council.

The members accepted the offer of Robert Hultgren, operator of the Rochelle Sanitation Co., to take over the city's sanitary landfill operation program. He agreed to spend $40,000 for improvements which include an incinerator.

The council also awarded a contract to Arwell, Inc., Rochelle, for pest control at the garbage disposal plant at a cost of $200. Bids for bulldozers to excavate the Rochelle City Dump in Lee County will be accepted by the council.

For work on the streets the Rochelle Stone Inc., was awarded the contract for crushed rock for their bid of $1.50 per ton and the Sinclair Refining Co. bid of 104 cents per gallon on bituminous material for streets was accepted.

Miss Balser apparently pulled from a stop sign at the corner and hit Faley's car in the left front.

Miss Balser told officers, who did not investigate the accident at the scene, that she saw a turn signal on the car so she pulled into the intersection.

Apparently the turn signal was on a car preceding the auto driven by Faley.

Two Youths Sentenced To Jail

Two youths, one from Dixon and one from Rockford, will have three days each in the Lee County Jail and one year's probation each to think about how wrong they were to throw pop bottles from a moving car into plate glass windows in the Dixon business section.

Richard Odenthal, 19, 1416 Third St., and Gerald Johnson, 19, Rockford, were sentenced today by Magistrate Albert Kennedy to the above terms. They also have to make restitution for breaking the window at Harrison's Motor Sales in July.

MR. AND MRS. DAWSON C. ROWLAND

Sanford-Rowland Vows Are Repeated in Oregon

OREGON—The altar of the Church of the Nazarene held bouquets of white carnations and snapdragons and lighted tapers in candelabras for the recent wedding of Miss Dorthula Marie Sanford and Dawson Curtis Rowland performed by the Rev. Willard Hollis, pastor of the church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sanford and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Rowland, Oregon.

Miss Joanne Reid, Chana, vocalist for the double-ring service, was accompanied by Mrs. Andrew Schier, organist, and Miss Carol Lynn Brauer attended her cousin as maid of honor.

Sequin embroidery trimmed the bride's floor length gown of white acetate and nylon lace over taffeta worn with a lace jacket. A crystal and pearl tiara held her fingertip illusion veil, and atop a white Bible she carried a bouquet of white carnations and pink roses.

Miss Brauer was attired in a street length dress of pink dacron accented by a white hat and a cascading arrangement of pink and white daisies. Mrs. Sanford chose a blue jersey print frock for the ceremony, and a blue rayon dress was worn by the bridegroom's mother. Their accessories were white, and both wore shoulder corsages of pink and white carnations.

Harrison Rowland, Shannon, attended his brother as best man, and Mr. Sanford gave his daughter in marriage. Guests from Oregon, Dixon, Polo, Shannon, Leaf River, Lanark, Forrester, Kings, Rochelle, Ashton, Franklin Grove, Chana and Mount Morris were ushered by Fred Brauer and George Altenburg.

Bouquets of carnations and snapdragons decorated Blackhawk Grange Hall where a reception was held following the service. A tiered wedding cake was served by Mrs. Paul Yocum, and punch and coffee were poured by Mrs. George Altenburg.

Miss Juhkentaal Becomes Bride Of Neal G. Buckaloo Saturday

Miss Tiina Juhkentaal, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Julius Juhkentaal, Belmont, Wis., and Neal G. Buckaloo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Buckaloo, Rt. 2, Dixon, exchanged marriage vows Saturday afternoon in Peace Lutheran Church, Belmont, in a double-ring wedding performed by the bride's father, pastor of the church.

The bride was escorted to the altar which held bouquets of white chrysanthemums and yellow daisies, by her brother, Jaak Juhkentaal, and nuptial organ music was provided by Russell Schulz, Hebron. Master Terry Buckaloo, Rockford, the bridegroom's nephew, served as ceremonial acolyte.

Satin Gown

The bride's floor length sheath gown of white delustered satin was fashioned with a detachable chapel train and the hemline of the gown's skirt was banded by a wide border of lace. Matching lace covered a circular headpiece which held her ballerina length veil, and she carried a cascade of white daisies accented by satin streamers.

Miss Patricia Thode, Davenport, Iowa, the bride's college roommate, served as maid of honor and was attired in a street length frock fashioned of white nylon over satin and worn with a matching nylon jacket and a veil-trimmed bow headpiece. Floating back panels trimmed the skirt of her gown, and her flowers were yellow daisies.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Juhkentaal chose a dress of olive green and white Egyptian cotton, matching accessories and an olive green tulle hat, and the bridegroom's mother wore a pastel blue frock with a matching hat and blue accessories. White miniature chrysanthemums were used in their shoulder corsages.

The bridegroom's college roommate, Michael Powers, Bloomington, Ind., acted as best man, and usher-

Things Dixon Talked About

(From the files of the Dixon Evening Telegraph)

10 YEARS AGO

Beth Hawley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hawley, and Susan Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall, Mount Morris, returned Friday from a month spent at Red Pine Camp for Girls on Clear Lake, Minocqua, Wis.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Huff and daughters, Sharon and Jane, and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Huff, Rt. 1, have just returned from a vacation trip which lasted 16 days. They spent several days at Yellowstone Park and in the Black Hills. The final week of their trip they enjoyed fishing in Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Vail, son John, and daughter, Janet, returned Saturday evening from Clearwater Beach, Fla., where they had spent a two weeks' vacation. They returned by way of Evansville, Ind., and visited Mrs. Vail's nephew, John McCoy and family.

25 YEARS AGO

Patrons of the Lee County Fair and Horse Show now in progress at Assembly Park are invited to avail themselves of the rest booth maintained by the Dixon Evening Telegraph in the large tent housing displays of Dixon merchants and dealers on the west section of the grounds.

Peggy Allin, famed English bicyclist, who is making a transcontinental trip of the United States, via the Lincoln Highway, is expected to reach Dixon some day next week.

40 YEARS AGO

The Dixon Country Club golfers invaded Mendota yesterday and on the long end of a 14 to 9 score. At the local club, those over 40 enjoyed a big day of romping the course and dinner. About 20 turned out for the "Life Begins at 40" event.

Extra! Extra! Extra! It hasn't rained on Dixon's just and unjust for over 24 hours! The result of the warm sunshine and warm weather was seen early this morning when an unusually large number of shoppers made their appearance.

With the completion of new buildings at the Dixon State Hospital, accommodations for about 600 more patients will be available, and it is announced that tentative plans are now being made to take advantage of the additional room.

Mud baths are being used to make people, but you don't see many pretty politicians.

Who'll Win Real Contest At the Democratic Show?

By WARD CANNEL
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J.

Like the rest of the nation, we have found our interest whipped to a gallop by the real contest in the Democratic National Convention.

And so, after several days of investigation on the scene, we have decided to throw caution to the winds and come right out with a forecast of the result, to wit:

We predict that Huntley and Brinkley will not lose any ground at all to Robert Trout and Roger Mudd.

(In fact, we think that CBS has completely botched the whole Walter Cronkite deal. We simply cannot believe he will do any better playing first base for the Yankees than he did playing a newsman on television.)

At any rate, we certainly do not think that the Trout-Mudd tandem is any answer to the Huntley-Brinkley act, and we will explain why.

To the untrained eye surveying Atlantic City on the eve of the Democratic vice presidential nominating convention, the race looks as if it could go to any network that cared to plug in.

No entertainment was ever wired better. There are more cameramen, linemen, technicians, mobile units, audiomen, and electronics experts in town than there are vacationers and taffy pullers.

But, of course, what gets a network its convention rating is its master of ceremonies, usually known in the news festivities as an anchor man. He pulls the acts together, introduces the performers, reminds you of what you are watching, passes some pleasantries and in general gives you a comfy feeling about history as it happens.

Walter Cronkite's big mistake, we feel, was in playing the event too big and making it sound as though it had some importance. His attempt at humor by holding his ear

Off and Running

Pupil Interviews Writer Hal Boyle

(EDITORS NOTE — Richard Huttner, 16, a pupil at Horace Mann High School, N.Y., called on Hal Boyle as a class assignment to write a profile. His profile appeared in the Overseas Press Club Bulletin.)

By RICHARD BUTTNER

NEW YORK (AP) — I entered the tremendous rectangular room of The Associated Press. Everything was alive with action.

I approached a secretary, busy but attentive as I asked her the locale of Hal Boyle's desk.

"Over there," she said, and she pointed to the far right-hand corner of the office.

Boyle, 5 feet, 8 inches tall, and 200 pounds, looked like a miniature version of a professional football lineman; however, his 52 years clearly were beginning to show—especially in the breadbasket.

His thinning, brown hair, parted on the left side, receded slightly from his wide forehead, giving an extra fullness to his face. He had a broad, ruggedly handsome nose and soft, brown eyes.

He sat next to me on the same side of the desk, where I could observe his every move.

Clearing my throat and trying to emulate the professional interviewer, I asked my first question.

"What is your feeling as the deadline for each column draws near?"

He thought for a moment and slowly answered, gesturing with a stout, powerful, right index finger.

"Well, that's the time you just take a cold chisel, put it to your head, and start quarrying. Ideally, I suppose, I should get a few columns ahead, get a backlog. But I can only write on deadline. Emily Dickson said, 'Wine is the gift of screws.' I find the deadline squeezes the best out of you in a hurry."

"In your opinion, is journalistic ability acquired or innate?"

"I think," he replied, "that journalistic ability is partially innate, but developed by application and experience."

While Boyle was at college, the University of Missouri, he aspired to become a teacher. I asked, "What made you decide to give up teaching in favor of journalism?"

"I got a job with The Associated Press. I feel I'd still like to be a teacher because it's the most inspiring profession I know except motherhood, and I'm not built for that. Anyway, I thought journalism was romantic — and still do, some days."

Hal Boyle was born in Kansas City, Mo. In 1937 he married Mary Frances Young and later adopted a daughter, Tracy Ann.

During World War II, he was a correspondent in the Mediterranean and European areas from which he wrote a daily column, "Leaves from a War Correspondent's Notebook."

Some of his exploits that occurred during the war are still famous today. For example, on the North African front, he "invaded" a small Arab village, throwing candy from his jeep and shouting:

"Vote for Boyle, the son of toil! Honest Hal the Arab's pal!"

Along with his sparkling sense of humor, however, he also has a genuine feeling of mankind that has earned him such titles as "The Soldiers' Boswell" and "The Poor Man's Philosopher." For his brilliant reporting he was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1945.

I asked, "What type of people do you hate?" Though ready for the worst, I hoped I'd catch him off guard.

He said nothing; but instead, lit a long, black cigar and puffed away as if his thoughts were in some remote island paradise.

Finally, he answered, "I hate people who throw their weight around, who try to rob a man of his dignity. Will Rogers used to say, 'I never met a man I didn't like.' I can't say the same. But I can say I never met a human being I didn't feel sorry for. I think this is a hard world, and I think every human in it, at one time or another, has a hard time. The thing I admire most is people who face life with courage, loyalty, and a sense of humor."

"What are your pet fears?" "My fears? The biggest thing I have to fight is a feeling of insufficiency — that I won't be able to Almost any women would be highly insulted if you told her she didn't have the right to vote. Yet many women in America today of voting age confess almost smugly that they don't get much time to read the newspapers.

Ruth Millett

When a woman fails to avail herself of the largest amount of easily obtainable information on men and issues—her daily newspaper—what is she basing her vote upon?

Does she pick one candidate because he has a winning television personality and scratch another because she "can't stand the way he smiles" or "hates his voice" . . . just as though the candidates were running for an Oscar instead of for an elective office?

Does she simply wait until election day to ask her husband, "Tell me how you want me to vote." If so, she doesn't have a vote. Her husband has two.

Does she naively decide on men and issues by taking every word her favorite television commentator says as gospel — accepting what may be a prejudiced opinion as a fact? If so, she is giving away her vote to a man she doesn't even know — except as an admired television personality.

Does she base her vote on gossip — listening to every tale she hears about a man's personal life, without bothering to find out whether or not she is listening to fact or fiction? If so, her vote is merely an assist to someone's smear campaign of an opposing candidate.

Any woman who is jealous of her right to vote — and every woman should be — owes it to herself and to her country to inform herself on men and issues by reading the full text of speeches, studying platforms, considering voting records, comparing what a candidate has promised in the past with what he delivered, and separating a man from his "image" by digging up the facts about him.

must the talent to do the work the way I'd like. My greatest fear of all, however, is tomorrow's column."

"What would you like put on your tombstone?" I asked, rising from the chair and picking up my notes.

"I'd like an epitaph saying, 'Gone Home to Rest' with an arrow pointing upward."

I laughed and thanked Boyle for the interview.

We shook hands and I left, feeling in fine spirits.

Hal Boyle returns from vacation Tuesday.

The Doctor Says

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What is bronchitis? Is it contagious? What is the treatment?

A—Bronchitis is a chronic disease in which the small airways in a part of the lung have become dilated and have lost their elasticity. As a result infected mucus collects in these airways and is hard to cough up. The disease is not contagious although it may occur as a complication of a contagious disease such as measles, whooping cough, pneumonia or influenza. In some victims it is caused by inhaling a foreign body.

The disease is very difficult to cure but antibiotics may help. The victim should practice postural drainage two or three times a day by lying across the bed with his head near the floor. This facilitates coughing up the accumulated secretions. Surgical removal of the diseased portion of the lung is often the only means of curing this stubborn disease.

Q—What is the cause of necrotizing arteritis? Does this disease develop suddenly or gradually? What are the symptoms and is there any cure?

A—This disease (also called periarteritis nodosa) may develop gradually or suddenly, usually in persons between 20 and 40 years of age. It is characterized by nodules in the smaller arteries. The cause is unknown. Since it may involve arteries in various parts of the body, the symptoms depend on the part affected. Often there is a low fever, loss of appetite and easy fatigability. If the kidneys are involved the blood pressure may be high and there may be albumin in the urine. In some victims there are abdominal pains and bleeding from the digestive tract. In others there may be shortness of breath or asthma-like wheezing. If the heart is involved the pulse may be fast and there may be waterlogging of the ankles. Pains in the muscles and joints are common symptoms and painful nodules may be felt in the small blood vessels of the skin.

The outlook is not as hopeless as it was before the discovery of cortisone and related drugs. Although these drugs do not cure the disease they can relieve the symptoms and prevent further development.

Q—My doctor wants me to quit smoking because I have asthma. Will Bantron help me?

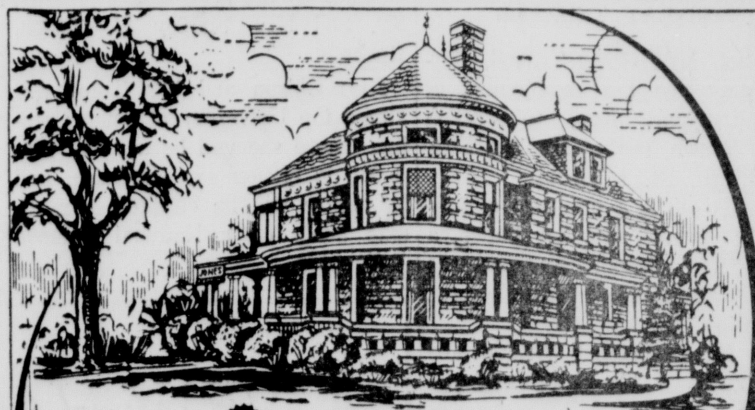

A—Bantron is a combination of lobeline and antacids. Some authorities believe it helps their patients to quit smoking but the best evidence suggests that a firm resolve to quit is more dependable than any drug.

Kerner Gets Important Demo Roles

ATLANTIC CITY (AP) — Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois is being given two assignments at the Democratic National Convention that will put him in the limelight.

One of his roles will be to take over for House Speaker John McCormack of Massachusetts, the convention chairman, during some of the business sessions.

The other assignment is to read the preamble of the party's proposed national platform.

Both appearances were designed to offset the attention received by Kerner's November election opponent, Charles H. Percy, at the Republican National Convention in San Francisco last month. Percy introduced Rep. William E. Miller, the GOP vice presidential nominee, at the San Francisco convention.

Kerner spoke out at a news conference Monday on the unsettled fight over whether to seat the all-white regular delegation from Mississippi.

He said he was sympathetic toward the bid by the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party but that its delegates were not legally organized.

Both Kerner and Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago agreed the convention should not recognize any delegate who does not sign a pledge to support the candidacy of President Johnson.

Daley said this stand was talked over with David Lawrence, credentials committee chairman, before the Illinois delegation adopted a resolution on the matter at a Sunday caucus.

Sox Drop Tilt With Twins; Cubs Lose

Late Rallies Fail In One-Run Loss

CHICAGO (P) — The Chicago White Sox dropped another one-half game behind the American League-leading Baltimore Orioles and the Chicago Cubs sank deeper into the National League cellar Monday night.

Veteran relief pitcher Al Worthington throttled an eighth inning rally and protected a 4-3 lead as the Minnesota Twins moved the idle Orioles into a two-game lead over the second-place Sox. But more important, it put the Sox three games behind on the lost side.

The third-place Yankees, who defeated the New York Mets 6-4 in an exhibition game, are 3 games behind the White Sox, but only one behind in the lost column.

The White Sox had runners on second and third with only one out when Worthington relieved starter Jim Kaat, 14-6, in the eighth.

Ron Hansen greeted Worthington with a single to center, scoring Mike Hershberger, but Jim Landis stopped at third base. Worthington then got Bill Skowron and Don Buford on short fly balls, stranding the tying run on third base.

John Buzhardt, 10-7, was the losing pitcher.

In the National League contest, the ninth-place Houston Colts edged the eighth-place Cubs 2-0 on a sparkling two-hitter by fireballing right-hander Bob Bruce.

Houston scored both runs in the bottom of the eighth off Lew Burdette, 9-7.

Bruce launched the rally with a single, but was forced by Eddie Kasko. Kasko then stole second, Al Spangler walked and both tallied on a hit by Walter Bond and an error by Billy Williams.

Bruce, 12-7, allowed only a single to right by Doug Clemens in the second and a bunt hit by Len Garrelson in the fifth.

The White Sox will send Juan Pizarro, 16-6, against the Twins' Dick Stigman, 6-12, tonight at Comiskey Park.

In Houston, where the most important thing is next season, the Colts will pitch Ken Johnson, 9-13, against the Cubs' Ernie Broglio, 7-10.

Ralston, McKinley Reach First Part of Hard Goal

CHESNUT HILL, Mass. (P) — Dennis Ralston and Chuck McKinley, the young men who returned the United States to world tennis supremacy, are one-third of the way home toward an impossible goal.

"Mission one-third accomplished," shouted the 22-year-old Ralston after he and McKinley had demolished the English duo of Mike Sangster and Graham Stillwell 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 Monday and captured their third National Doubles Tennis Championship.

"Our goals for the summer," Ralston said, "have been this—win the national doubles and retire the cups. Then Forest Hills."

That's where the quest becomes impossible.

"Naturally we can't both win the singles, but we'll both be trying," Ralston said. "One of us should win it."

"Then there's the Davis Cup. We've got to show that it was no fluke in Australia, by keeping it."

McKinley, 23, and Ralston, 22-year-old Southern California student, were the key factors in the United States' Davis Cup triumph a year ago and are the principal figures in the defense against the winner of the Sweden-Australia interzone match in Cleveland next month.

The ease with which they dispatched the Britons—the first English pair to reach the finals since 1903—indicated they were ready. Neither lost his serve or was in danger of doing so.

It was the third doubles championship for the two—previous victories came in 1961 and 1963—and retired the silver bowl emblematic of the championship. The last duo to win three were Bill Talbert and Gardner Mulloy, who won their third title in 1946.

"Denny and I are at the top of our games," said McKinley, who plays out of San Antonio, Tex.

Their doubles triumph, engineered in just 50 minutes, completed a sweep of the titles for the United States and marked the first time in 10 years it had been accomplished.

The sweep was set up when the California duo of Billie Jean Moffitt, of Long Beach and Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Diego upset top-seeded Australians Margaret Smith and Lesley Turner 2-6, 6-2, 6-4 for the women's title.

Sponsors Host Dinner for Dixon's No. 1 Tennis Team

The three sponsors of Dixon's No. 1 Tennis Team, the Dixon National Bank, the City National Bank, and the H. A. Roe Insurance Company, hosted a dinner for the team, last night at the Nachusa House.

At the dinner the three sponsors were presented with trophies, which indicated the team's second place finish to Rockford in the Northern Illinois Tennis Association championships.

George Covert, player-coach of the always strong Dixon team, reviewed each team member's accomplishments during the year, and thanked the sponsors for their co-operation during the year.

He also said: "All in all, I felt it was a better team than anticipated."

Dixon has lost the NITA title to Rockford the past two years, but grabbed the championship for two years prior to that time.

Two newcomers to this year's team, Don Ducommun and Terry Troughton, expressed amazement at the quality of tennis played in Dixon.

Representatives of the sponsors expressed their pleasure in being able to sponsor the team.

Players who were guests of the sponsors were Covert, Dave Knoose, John Underwood, Randall Barnhart, Dwight Toland, Troughton, Chill Fichter, Ducommun, and Dale Harshman, Dave Johnson and Phil Keeley.

Representing the sponsors were Larry Wilson of the City National Bank and William Reigle of the Dixon National Bank. A representative of H. A. Roe was not present.

Rico Carty Leads Braves To Triumph Over Phillies

By The Associated Press

Rico Carty of the Milwaukee Braves admits he was a bit over-anxious about breaking into organized baseball.

He signed with just about every club in the Dominican Republic. And with San Francisco, And Cincinnati. And he had his runaway pin in hand, ready to sign with St. Louis, when Milwaukee protested.

But the Braves haven't protested since.

A 24-year-old outfielder making a bid for Rookie of the Year honors in the National League, Carty slammed five straight hits — a homer, three doubles and a single — as the Braves walloped the first-place Philadelphia Phillies 12-9 Monday night.

Carty has hit like that in the Braves' chain ever since they took his ink well away by appealing to the late George Trautman, then the president of the minors.

Seems that Carty — "I was just a kid" — I didn't realize what I was doing" — had signed with the Estrellas club in the Dominican Republic before yielding his pen for the Giants and Reds. The Estrellas club had sold Carty to the Braves.

Against the Phillies, Carty doubled in the first, singled in the second, homered in the fourth and doubled in the fifth and the seventh, lifting his average from .312 to .323 with the spurt while bringing his home run output to 13 and his runs batted in total to 56.

The loss trimmed the Phillies' lead to 6½ games over the San Francisco Giants, who broke a tie for second place with Cincinnati by defeating the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2. In other NL action, St. Louis whipped Pittsburgh 5-1 and Houston blanked the Chicago Cubs 2-0.

The Chicago White Sox, meanwhile, lost an opportunity to gain ground on American League-leading Baltimore, falling two games behind the Orioles after a 4-3 loss to Minnesota in the only game on the schedule.

Carty led a 16-hit Milwaukee attack against five Philadelphia pitchers. Hank Aaron chipped in with his 22nd homer and three runs batted in while Eddie Mathews collected three hits.

Wes Covington supplied most of the fireworks for the Phillies, driving in six runs with two homers and a pair of doubles. Clay Dalrymple also homered for Philadelphia.

The Giants put it away against the Dodgers in the first inning with a four-run outburst helped along by Tommy Davis' error on a Willie Mays liner. That produced one run, a grounder by Orlando Cepeda drove in the second and Jim Hart finished things up with a two-run homer.

The Dodgers scored their only runs in the first on a homer by Willie Davis, then were shut out the rest of the way by Jim Duffalo. Duffalo, who hadn't pitched a complete game since his first major league start in 1961, allowed only six hits.

The Twins scored twice in the second inning against the White Sox with the aid of an error by Al Weis, and added two more in the third on singles by Rich Rollins, Tony Oliva and Zoilo Versalles. Then they held on as the White Sox muffed their opportunities.

The White Sox had the potential tying runs on in the sixth, but Jim Kaat picked Don Buford off first to end the inning. Chicago then closed to within one run in the eighth, but reliever Al Worthington got Moose Skowron and Buford on short flies with the tying run on third.

Bill White hit a two-run homer for the Cardinals in the eighth and Ken Boyer followed with another homer, taking the pressure off Bob Gibson. Gibson was working on a 2-1 lead at that point and wound up with a six-hitter while striking out 12.

Pitcher Bob Bruce, who allowed only two hits, got the Colts winning rally started in the eighth inning with a single off Lou Burdette. Walt Bond's single and an error on the play by Billy Williams let both runs score. Hal Woodeshick pitched the ninth for Houston after Bruce hurt his back.

Trade Shows Cleveland Has Confidence in Groza

By The Associated Press

There were 28 seconds remaining on the clock. Cleveland's Lou Groza calmly lined up his field goal attempt with the Browns trailing the Los Angeles Rams 28-27 in the National Football League championship game.

As Groza approached the ball for the all-important kick, on the sidelines, the Browns already were heaving their helmets in the air in a sign of victory.

That was 13 years ago, and Groza justified the Browns' confidence, kicking the winning field goal.

Once again, Monday, the Browns expressed their confidence in Groza, now a 40-year-old veteran of 18 professional football seasons, by trading rookie kicking specialist Dick Van Raaphorst to the Dallas Cowboys for an undisclosed draft choice.

There had been speculation that Van Raaphorst, a 10th round draft choice from Ohio State tutored by Groza, would replace his teacher as the Browns extra point and field goal kicker.

"I feel good this year and will play as long as I can," said Groza. "I never work on the principle of leaving."

"I'll probably be around until they sweep me out."

They may never sweep him out of the record books.

The alltime leading scorer in the NFL, Groza holds eight league records and his seniority as a pro dates back to the original Browns of the now defunct All-American Conference.

Groza will be shooting to hit the 1,000-point mark in his NFL career this season. He has scored 987 points on 176 field goals, 543 extra points and one touchdown.

The touchdown came on a pass from Otto Graham in 1950 on a since outlived tackle eligible play. One other trade was concluded during the day as the 22 pro football clubs trimmed their squads to get down to the 45-player limit by the Tuesday deadline.

The Green Bay Packers reduced their squad below the limit by trading veteran defensive lineman Urban Henry to the Pittsburgh Steelers for a future draft choice.

Remnants of Racial Riots in Dixmoor

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

DIXMOOR (P) — Two police cars and a shuttered liquor store. A few confused Negroes and an awakened neighborhood.

These are some of the remnants today of the racial rioting last Sunday and Monday night in which more than 50 persons — most of them white — were injured and 71 whites and Negroes arrested.

"It's quiet now, and we're going to try to keep it that way," said John Hebert, 46, president of the Dixmoor chapter of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

Before last week's flareups, racial violence was unknown to Dixmoor, a middle-class suburb of pleasant bungalows and new apartment buildings a few miles south of Chicago. Most of the village's 3,100 residents are Negro.

Dixmoor's troubles started over a bottle of gin that a Negro woman was accused of taking from the Foremost Liquor Store. The next day, word spread that the store owner, Michael (Big Mike) LaPota, 52, a 265 pound ex-convict, had severely beaten the woman. LaPota later was arrested and charged with assault and battery.

Angry Negroes demonstrated in front of the store over the weekend. By Sunday night, rocks began to fly.

"Once it started, it just seemed to snowball," said Hebert, whose pleas for order were disregarded by the estimated 1,000 rioters, most of them teen-agers.

Fifty-three persons were injured by flying rocks and bricks in Sunday night's melee. The next night a smaller crowd again demonstrated.

Police held injuries and damage to a minimum, despite what some charged was the mob-inciting appearance of a canine squad which police said was not authorized at the riot scene.

By Tuesday night, officials, working through community meeting between Negroes and whites and individual conferences, had the residents calmed.

On Thursday state and county police reduced patrols in the stricken area to two squad cars.

"A lot of people came over and talked to us," said patrolman George Knickerbocker of Cook County sheriff's police, detailed to keep watch in front of the liquor store. "They didn't seem to be mad at the police. In fact they were a little ashamed for what had happened in the village," Knickerbocker said.

CORE worker Hebert said, "This goes much deeper than the liquor store. There are long standing grievances in terms of jobs and housing."

"Negroes are making solid gains here," he said, "but it's not coming fast enough and not in the numbers we would like to see. A lot of the progress is just tokenism."

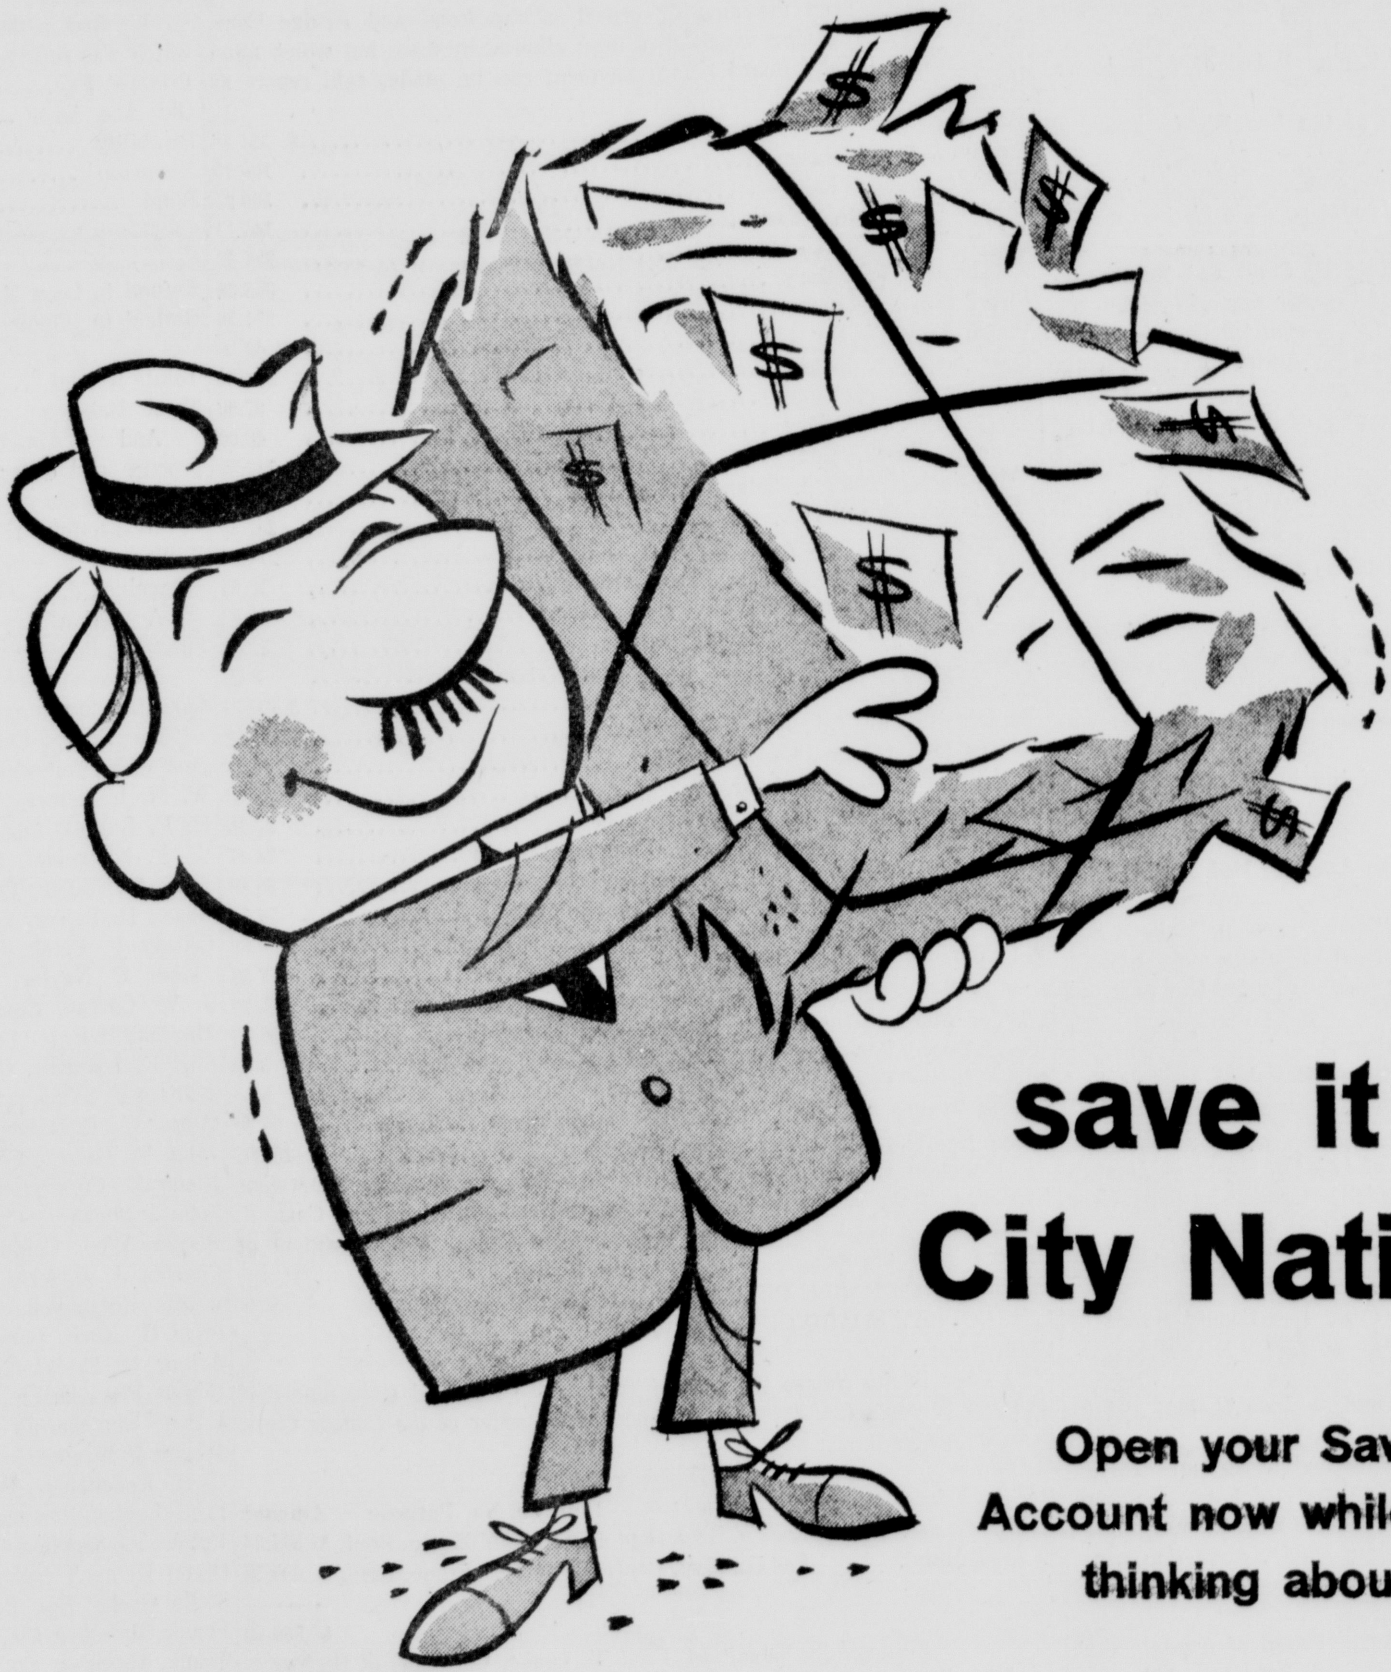

Hebert said the riots and the meetings that followed served one major purpose. "We are slowly beginning to establish a line of communication between Negroes and whites in the area. If we'd had one before, this thing never would have happened."

"The police learned something and it's been a lesson for the community," agreed Roger W. Nathan, head of the Illinois Commission on Human Relations.

"The riot opened up people's eyes about just how the Negroes were really feeling."

"I hope that other communities nearby take a look at Dixmoor's troubles and re-examine their own race relationships," Nathan said. "In that sense the riots could do some good."

Barry Speaks in Springfield

(Editor's Note: The Telegraph, in the following article and in two subsequent articles to follow, is publishing the text of Sen. Barry Goldwater's speech at the Illinois State Fair. There has been no little controversy about what Goldwater really stands for and the Telegraph publishers believe there is no better way to answer such question, than to let the senator speak for himself.)

Back in 1854, the Illinois State Fair

Today in History

By The Associated Press
Today is Tuesday, Aug. 25, the 238th day of 1964. There are 126 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1944, the German commander in Paris surrendered the city.

On this date:
In 1835, Ann Rutledge died in New Salem, Ill., sending young Abraham Lincoln into grief described as approaching madness.

In 1939, Britain and Poland signed a mutual assistance treaty.

In 1945, Gen Douglas MacArthur announced the final signing of surrender terms with Japan would be delayed until September because of typhoons.

Ten years ago — Nationalist Chinese President Chiang Kaishek appealed for aid to victims of the worst flood in more than 100 years on the Yangtze and Hwai rivers on the Communist-held mainland.

Five years ago — The Chinese Communists admitted that their production figures for 1958 had been grossly overstated in an earlier announcement.

One year ago — More than 600 students were arrested in South Viet Nam in an effort to crush opposition to the government.

Freeport Gets Renewal Grant

WASHINGTON (U) — The city of Freeport has been awarded an $8,760 grant by the Urban Renewal Administration for aid in its planning program. The announcement, made in Washington Monday, said the money would be supplemented by $4,380 in state and local contributions.

played an important part in one of the truly great political realignments in our nation's history. The speaker at the Fair, that year, was an up-and-coming politician named Abraham Lincoln. This is where he made his first really important speech along the lines that later brought the Republican Party into being as a Party of freedom.

There is just as important and potent a political force growing in the land today. And there is no better or more fitting place to talk about it than at this place and this time.

This growing force doesn't call for a new party. It calls for a renewal of faith in and an understanding of those political principles which gave the Republican Party its birth.

There are members of both parties — and of no party — here today. No one expects all of us to agree. But consider this: The Republican Party today is emerging clearly and unmistakably as the Party of freedom once again.

We are not talking of freedom in any sectional or special sense now, however. We are talking about freedom throughout our affairs at home. We are talking about freedom throughout the troubled world that surrounds and all to often confounds us today.

Can any thinking person have any real doubts about where the two parties stand on these issues today?

The entire fabric of the Republican Party platform is woven from dependence upon the individual, faith in the individual, trust of the individual.

In governmental affairs it is woven from reliance upon government closest to the people — so that it can be controlled by the people and not exercise oppressive and remote control over the people.

In foreign affairs it is woven from belief that all men and all nations must be free to choose their own ways of life if there is to be real and lasting peace in the world.

And in regard to peace itself, the Republican platform and my personal pledge to you today and every day, is based upon a firm belief that only a strong America can be a peaceful America; that only a strong America can prevent war; that only a strong America can preserve the peace in which the false and failing ideology of Communism can be finally and fully rendered powerless.

Now let me suggest that whether you agree or disagree with those positions, you must admit, in all political honesty, that the present Administration stands for exactly the opposite position in each and every one of those basic matters.

It does not trust the people. It feels that the people, like children, must be told what to do, when to do it, and even how much to pay for it. And let's also be honest about this: some people prefer it that way.

But I don't buy for a moment that most people want it that way. And in November you are going to have a chance to prove it!

What of governmental affairs? The present Administration, as clearly as it can, says that local government can't cope with things anymore, that only the Federal level of government in Washington is wise enough to know what is best for you and your neighbors.

And once again, let's be honest. There are men in local government who are more than ready to turn their responsibilities over to Washington.

I want you to know that I'm proud to share this platform today with one outstanding American who wants your great state to take a different path.

Chuck Percy, your next governor, doesn't believe in running to Washington with every problem in every neighborhood or town in his great state!

He knows that people can solve their own problems in their own ways right at home—and he doesn't just talk about it. As you know, he puts his beliefs into action.

Today, Chuck and I join hands across the years with those Republicans who built our Party. We join hands with them for the very reason that we are the freedom Party of today!

When it comes to the overwhelming issue of peace, the differences are just as dramatic between the two parties. I want to touch on that in some detail a bit later.

First, I want to go beyond the specifics and the details of political debate and mention a mood, a feeling in America today which may be as meaningful in the long run as any other factor of the political decision we must make this year.

You know and I know that there is something distinctly wrong when crime rises faster than our population.

You know that there is something distinctly wrong when common honesty and familiar morality are openly and widely challenged by the doctrine of the fast buck and the code of the off-color novel.

You know and I know that there is something wrong when the standards of drama and literature seek new depths rather than new heights; when pornography becomes a measure of talent.

You know and I know that there is something deeply wrong when law enforcement agencies are attacked for trying to do their jobs while open violations of civil order are defended.

I yield to no-one in my championship of every American's right to speak out, and speak out loudly, in his attempts to redress grievances.

I yield to no man in my actions to support the redress of the grievances of those who have been wronged.

But I cannot as a citizen, I have not as a Senator, and I would not as President support or incite any American to seek redress to his grievances through lawlessness, violence, and hurt to his fellow men, or damage to his property.
